~ 2011: Keewaydin's 119th Season ~

Hello!

I just had the chance to sift through this yearbook; another work of art by Doc Bourdelais. My complaint? It is too short. I suspect for every picture on the page, there are two more that Doc agonized over, put in, took out, put back in, adjusted, color corrected and then took out again. I want to see all of those pictures in here. The ten other shots of Mattawa at Center Falls, the ones Lauren Sayre took of the 19 moose they saw this summer, the sunsets, the fish that were caught and the pictures of the ones that were lost. But I will settle for the ones that are here. They are magnificent.

All of these images are connections to memories of adventures, of clay fights, or of getting "monstered," or "skegged," They are reminders of long portages, or the day when it was just too hot and the paddling seemed endless and triggers to larger memories. They also remind us of the things not capturable on film: the elation when you flip the canoe up for the first time, or the feeling of relief when you flip the wannigan or double pack down at the end of a portage, that sort of lightness on your shoulders as you return for your second load, knowing that this portage is one you can handle.

My favorite pictures are here: of bacon, bannock and blueberry pie; of Kokomis, Algonquin 3 and 1 on top of Maple Mountain arms over each other's shoulders, with the Canadian Shield stretching out behind them. Images of the sunlight illuminating Demi Mathias' drum at the final campfire and the walleye David Calligeros caught on the Centennial Bay Trip! This book is complete. Like the whiff of damp wool, or burning birch logs, it triggers all the memories of fun, friendship, challenges, and all the ingredients for stories that will fill a lifetime.

Enjoy the 2011 yearbook! When you see Doc, thank him, for his work, and then start thinking about what you are going to be doing next summer. Because . . . "we'll be looking for you, in 2012!" See you on Devil's Island!

A logo for "FRONTIER MINI-MART PICKLE LAKE 'Ontario's Last Frontier'". The logo features a stylized illustration of a sunset over a lake with a canoe, a cabin, and a person. A small airplane is flying in the sky. The text "FRONTIER MINI-MART" is in large, bold letters, "PICKLE LAKE" is in smaller letters below it, and "Ontario's Last Frontier" is in a script font at the bottom.
